Monday October 8, 2012

At Pitcaim Monroeville Sportsman's Club

505 Mosside Blvd [Rt. 48], N. Versailles, PA 15137

(25 min. West of Pittsburgh)

This is a one day course designed for those who have had previous formal training with auto-loading rifles in intermediate caliber (sometimes called "patrol rifles" or "tactical carbine"). This course covers the basic skills, and then advances the challenges to the level of the students present, with an eye toward polishing gun handling while balancing speed and accuracy.

Subjects Covered:

- Review of the basics
- Proper care and maintenance of the rifle
- How to set up the rifle for maximum efficiency
- Multiple target engagement at speed
- Varied distance shooting
- Timed drills
- Malfunction drills
- Speed reloading

Equipment: Cleaned and zeroed rifle, optics (suggested), sling, spare magazines, eye and ear protection, 300 rounds factory ammo

Prerequisites: ITTS Carbine Level I or equivalent from an ITTS recognized school (proof of completion required)

$250 tuition (plus $10 range fees payable to the host club for non-members)

If class is purchased in addition to "Intermediate Handgun" Oct. 6-7 total cost is $595 for both. (Int. Handgun regular price is $495)

- This course is open to civilians, law enforcement and military –

INSTRUCTOR: As a 30-year veteran of the L.A.P.D., Scott Reitz spent 26 years in the elite Metropolitan Division (SWAT, K-9, Mounted and High Risk deployment) with 10 years as an operator and instructor in S.W.A.T. For the latter portion of his career, he was the primary firearms/tactics instructor for the elite Metropolitan Division and responsible for all in-service training. During his career as a field officer with the Metropolitan Division, Scott was involved in 5 officer-involved shootings, all in policy with successful outcomes. Scott is an F.B.I. certified law enforcement instructor and has trained with SEAL Team 6, Delta and the F.B.I.'s HRT in counter-terrorist operations and participated in Recon Battalion anti-terrorist fleet training with the U.S. Marine Corp at Camp Pendleton. He also spent several years as an adjunct instructor for the Department of Energy's SRT-III training in New Mexico. Scott is a use of deadly force expert witness in police defense cases for the Superior and Federal Courts and works as a lecturer and consultant on high profile cases for law firms, the District Attorney's office and the U.S. Government. He is the head firearms instructor for International Tactical Training Seminars, Inc. (I.T.T.S.), a private firearms school in Los Angeles.
